Milwaukee Valve Gets A Fresh Look

After almost 4 years of productive use, Milwaukee Valve has launched a new home page and given the website a much-needed update. Still found at the same web location

(www.MilwaukeeValve.com), the new home page is more marketing-focused, providing opportunities to improve promotions of products, webinars and other new initiatives, all while maintaining the excellent collection of important information that the site is know for.

In the upcoming months, increased product information, site organization, and additional features will improve the site's functionality and customer utility. Care is being taken to simplify access to all of the website's functions, so that there should be little or no confusion in navigating the site during the update.

For questions or suggested improvements related to the website, please contact Mandie Ehrett, Marketing Services Manager for Milwaukee Valve at ehrettm@milwaukeevalve.com.
